What color do you think represents reality? Colorful is a game that challenges our normal thought processes, and reveals cultural differences. Prepare for fun, insightful conversations that will leave you wondering why other people don't see the world as you do.

COMPONENTS

SETUP

Separate the 6 sets of 15 color cards by their backs, give one set to each player, and return the rest to the box. Shuffle the category cards and place them face down as a draw pile.

GAMEPLAY

The game takes place over 5 rounds, or 6 rounds if playing with 6 players.

- 1 - Randomly select a player to remove 5 of their 15 color cards. All other players now remove the same color cards from their hand, and place these cards aside. They will not be used.
- 2 - The youngest player draws the first category card, placing it face up on the table. They will then come up with a subject based on the 1) spot. If you do not like your category card, you may draw one new card in its place. Example: The 1) spot reads “a feeling”, and the first player says “sadness”. You can not use any words with colors, such as “bluejay”.
- 3 - Based on the subject given, each player—including the one who chose the subject—chooses one of their color cards and places it face down next to the category card.
- 4 - The next player in clockwise order now draws a new category card, and states something from the category of the 2) spot.
- 5 - Continue this process for 5 rounds, or 6 rounds with 6 players.

- 6 - Everyone now flips their cards from the first category, and recalls what the subject was. Continue doing this for all categories.

GAME END

If all players managed to choose the same color for every category, you have won the co-op version of Colorful! If there are any differing colors in a single category, then the ruling switches to a points system. You receive 1 point for each category in which you were in the majority group. If there are multiple tied majorities, no players receive points. The player with the most points is the winner! If there is a tie, all tied players share a colorful victory!

VARIANTS

TEAMS - In the team game, split into teams as you see fit during setup with a minimum of 2 players per team. Play the game as normal, and at game end, your team only scores points for the number of matching colors in each category that your team played.

BASE CATEGORY - Instead of coming up with more specific examples from the category cards, simply flip the cards and use exactly what is written as the color subject. Example: The category card reads “Conspiracy”, and you play a red card since this is the color conspiracies make you think of.

7-12 PLAYERS - If you have multiple copies of the game, you can play with up to 12 players using the same rules. Be sure to play a number of rounds equal to the number of players, so that everyone has the opportunity to name a subject.

DOUBLE COLORS - Do not discard any cards during setup, keeping all 15 in your hand. Each round, you will play 2 colors per subject instead of 1. Then follow the rest of the rules as normal.
